West Andover Group Protests Plans For Subdivisions

By Susan K. O'Neill

West Andover residents turned out in force at Tuesday night's Planning Board meeting to protest the probable effects of increased housing development on the quality of life in their neighborhoods. But, although board members listened sympathetically during back-to-back hearings on definitive plans for the 12-lot "Spencer Court" and 65-lot "Quailcrest" subdivisions, they ultimately made it clear that their powers to limit overall growth in a section of town were severely constrained by state law.

The first of the two subdivisions presented, the smaller "Spencer Court," is planned for 13.25 acres off High Plain Road, approximately two miles from town. Developers withdrew preliminary plans for the development this May, after board members had voiced strong reservations about water table levels and septic and drainage considerations.

In Tuesday's presentation, engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana Perkins noted that the site had been tested for water this spring, and that the table measured two to three feet at its lowest area. Throughout the site, he said, the testing averaged four to five feet.

He estimated that 3900 cubic yards of fill will have to be trucked on site to bring the roadway to grade, and to accommodate the septic system in the low area.

Abuttors and West Andover residents immediately attacked the plans. Said Anne Loosigian of High Plain Road, "The traffic's already horrendous on those roads. We have wet basements...That drainage system's going to drain onto our property."

Anne O'Brien of nearby Serenity Lane recalled Ferrante's May presentation of the ill-fated preliminary plans. "(Former Board Chairman) Marge Bradshaw said these plans 'stink,' " she reminded the board. "I will never forget that night."

Others charged that the parcel had flunked percolation testing in the past, but that current tests were taken during an abnormally dry season. Abutters were concerned that the development would add to their current drainage problems during wet years. Said Anita Karas of Serenity Lane, "We spent $5,000 to correct a water problem. There's an underground spring running right beside our property...How are you going to correct these problems?"

Ferrante maintained that the developer would be using a culvert system that would channel drainage away from abutters. "I'm not going to correct problems you have on Serenity Lane," he said. "We're not going to worsen it; we're not going to displace any more water onto Serenity Lane."

He further explained that Andover's Conservation Commission had given the project a go-ahead, qualified by an order of conditions the developer would have to meet in order to build.

Abutters did not appear convinced.

Several again brought up the issue of safety and traffic. Because of its close proximity to West Elementary School (within a half-mile), they maintained, traffic from the subdivision would present a hazzard to young pedestrians walking the shoulder of narrow High Plain Road. "Residents of High Plain Road have asked for sidewalks for years," said Loosigian. "We've gone round and round on this issue for years, and we've not gotten anywhere."

Her husband John deplored the amount of fill slated to be used in the subdivision, conceding that, while he understood that economic conditions made property prime that was once considered marginal, "To bring in 3900 cubic yards of materials seems to be too much—let's work with the land as it is."

The public reaction to Ferrante's second presentation, plans for the 65-lot "Quailcrest" subdivision, was similar in theme but more vehement.

Proposed for 85.5 acres bounded by River Road, Pleasant Street and Boutwell Road, the subdivision would lie substantially further west on High Plain Road than "Spencer Court," relatively

Named Merit Semi-Finalists

Five students from Andover are among 15,000 academically talented students nationwide to be named National Merit Scholarship semifinalists for 1987. The five, four Phillips Academy students and one senior from Andover High School, have qualified through their outstanding scores on the National Merit Scholarship Corporation PSAT/NMSQT tests to compete further for about 6,000 Merit Scholarships worth more than $21 million.

Andover Semifinalists are Catherine Bonier of Andover High School and Ian Davis, William Frederick, Mark Hessman and Herbert Wang, all of Phillips Academy.

Catherine Bonier, a senior at Andover High School, lives at 104 Chesnut St. and is the daughter of Richard and Carolyn Bonier. A life-long resident of Andover, she has been on the Honor Roll or on High Honors at the school throughout her high school career. She has a special interest in history and language studies.

Ian Davis, a Phillips Academy senior, is the son of Dr. J. David Davis and Atty. Jean Carey Davis of 186 Elm St. A consistant Honor Roll student, he is entering his fourth year at the school, and has a special interest in Math and computer sciences.

William Frederick, a junior, has spent one full year at Phillips Academy. Prior to 1985, he and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Boynton of 87 Woburn St., lived in San Diego, Cal. He has an interest in math and science, and, according to his mother, carries a B-plus average.

Mark Hessman, a senior, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hessman of 12 Rolling Ridge Road, is entering his fourth year at Phillips. He has placed on the honor roll for all but his first term at the school. An avid computer, science and math student, he has worked as a MacIntosh "Apple" resource person for a local computer sales company.

Herbert Wang, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Yaun-Kong Wang, 18 Charlotte Circle, is also a senior at Phillips, which he has attended for one full year. Previously, he has spent one year at Andover High School and another in Palo Alto, California. According to his mother, he is academically strongest in science and math, and has always been a straight-A student.

The 1987 National Merit Semifinalists are students in each state who scored highest on qualifying tests taken last fall. According to the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, the sponsoring organization, students achieving this level represent approximately one-half of one percent of the state's high school graduating class.

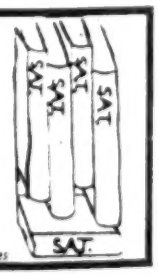

Those among them who will advance to Finalist standing will be selected by documented high academic performance, endorsement and recommendation by their schools, qualification by further testing (the Scholastic Aptitude Test), and review of information about their school and community activities, personal interests and goals. Approximately 90 percent of the Semifinalists

The National Machine Embroidery Instructors Association, sponsored by Sew-Art International of Bountiful, Utah, is organized to provide an opportunity for sewing instructors to share their talents, skills and experience so they may improve their ability to teach. This year's seminar attracted 110 participants from the United States and Canada.

Selectmen Reappoint ZBA Members

Monday night, the Board of Selectmen voted unanimously to reappoint Roger Collins, Lorene Comeau and Carol McDonough to the Zoning Board of Appeals. The selectmen united to commend the three for their attention to duty as past members.

Board members also appointed Dorothy Feinman of 15 Locke St. to fill a vacancy on the Parking Committee.

At the meeting, the board also granted permission to New England Telephone and Telegraph for the laying of wires, cables and underground conduits at locations on Greenwood Road, Old Riber Road, Kenilworth Street, and River Road.

Rosario Puleo was given approval for the installation of three underground gasoline tanks at Sie's Texaco on Rt. 125, to replace older tanks. The three would have a combined capacity of 18,000 gallons, 4,000 more than that of the existing tanks.

Also, the board gave permission to Bay State Gas Company to excavate for new gas service at 60-62 Red Spring Road, 8 Karlton Circle, 4 Strawberry Hill Road and 5 Forest Drive; and for repairs at 15 Topping Road, 21 & 45 Corbett Road, 74 Stevens St., 250 Andover St., 54 Whittier St., and on School at Central Street.

Finally, board members gave approval for sewer connections at Fairway Drive and on River Road.

Beginning with this meeting, all meetings of the Board of Selectmen and of the School Committee are slated to be televised, to be shown on Andover's cable T.V. community access channel.

Glass Drive Will Be Saturday September 20

Andover's monthly glass drive will be held in the parking lot on Bartlet between Town Hall and the Park on Saturday, Sept. 20. Volunteers from Andover Recycling, Inc. will be on the site from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to assist recyclers.

Only clear and green glass jars and bottles should be recycled. The collection bin provided by North Atlantic Recycling Services, Inc. will be divided into compartments to keep the two colors separate. Recyclers are asked to take all bags, boxes and other containers home with them.

For information about glass recycling or paper pickups at curbside, call any of the numbers listed on the current recycling calendar.

Evening classes Parking Reminder

All students enrolled in the Department of Community Services evening classes and programs should be aware that parking will not be allowed in any of the driveways leading up to Andover High School, West Junior High School and Doherty Junior High School. Students must park in the parking lots provided. Any cars found parked in the driveways will be ticketed and/or towed per order of the Police Department.

State Representative Sue Tucker of Andover will be available to meet with citizens this Saturday, Sept. 13, in the Trustees Room on the second floor of Memorial Hall Library from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. No appointment is necessary.

The session will give citizens the opportunity to meet with Tucker on an informal, in-person basis to discuss problems, seek advice or offer opinions on the issues facing the Legislature this fall.

Anyone unable to attend on Saturday can contact Tucker at the State House, Room 473G, Boston, MA 02133.

Painting Classes

Oil painting classes are again being offered by the Town of Andover through the Department of Community Services and Council on Aging. The DCS course will be held on Mondays from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for eight weeks, starting September 22. Class instruction covers basic theories of painting such as color mixing and composition and technical application.

Oil painting at the Council on Aging is broken into two classes, beginners and intermediate. The beginners' class, held on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for ten weeks beginning September 23, covers the principles mentioned leaving ample time for the first-timer or recent starter to develop thoroughly or the more experienced to have more personal attention. The intermediate class deals on a more advanced level based on the learning of the beginners' class. Only those who have taken the beginners' course with Cathy Piazza as instructor should register for the intermediate course which begins on Friday, Sept. 26, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for ten weeks. Courses will be held at the senior center and are open to non-seniors with seniors having priority. Registration is September 10.

The Y's Way to Physical Fitness program begins with a fitness testing clinic on Wednesday, Sept. 17, from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. This evaluation includes tests for body composition and cardio-respiratory endurance. Upon completion of this evaluation, participants are directed to one of the two classes that meets three times a week for ten weeks: Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:15 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. or 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. Each class consists of a warm-up period that includes walking and stretching, aerobic exercise, muscular strength exercises, cool-down and a relaxation period.

Rhythmic exercise will meet Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. This fun conditioning program includes choreographed warm-up, flexibility, muscular strength and endurance and cool-down routines. Babysitting is available for an additional fee.

Aerobic dance is designed to enhance cardio-respiratory fitness. It combines the basic elements of a good fitness workout with the fun of dancing. Routines also include exercises for flexibility, muscular strength and endurance, warm-up, cool-down and relaxation. Beginner classes meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. or Tuesday and Thursday from 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. The advanced class meets Tuesday and Thursday from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. Babysitting is available for an additional fee.

Early Bird Fitness is offered on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:15 a.m. to 7 a.m. and is a great way to start the day. This class is a good conditioning workout that will strengthen every part of the body.

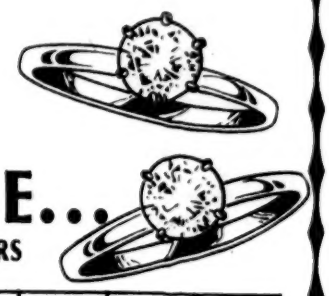

A pre-natal and postpartum exercise class, combining exercises for muscle tone, flexibility, breathing and relaxation, meets on Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Y's Way to Weight Management is a new national YMCA program designed to help participants learn how to take charge of their weight and life. Class meets on Tuesdays from 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. and will look at eating behaviors, exercise habits and food choices.

Safety

Now that schools have reopened, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Alan Mackey reminds motorists that they should focus attention on the safety of the 600,000 school children transported in the Commonwealth each day.

"Massachusetts law requires motorists approaching a school bus to stop if the bus is flashing red lights in the front and rear and has stopped to load or unload children (this applies except when motorists are approaching from the opposite side of a divided highway)," said Mackey, adding, "failure to do so is punishable by a fine of not more than $100; however, beginning Oct. 13 the minimum for a first offense will increase to $100 with a maximum of $200. In addition, fines for subsequent offenses will also be increased."

close to the Tewksbury line.

According to Planner Colyer, the subdivision first came before the board in 1983 in preliminary form; since that time, it has undergone approximately eight design changes. "It's now back to about where it was in 1983," commented Colyer.

The changes were made, he said, to address issues of traffic, sight distance problems at its several outlets to surrounding roads, and drainage concerns. After its first submission, a traffic study was commissioned from the engineering firm of Vanesse-Hangen; it concluded that the development would not present an undue burden for the surrounding roads.

Several residents took angry issue with the study's conclusions, citing such personal evidence of uncontrolled traffic problems as near-misses with speeding dump trucks and the moving of school bus stops from main roads to subdivision cul-de-sacs.

Wayne Arleque of Pleasant Street told about icy winter road conditions on Boutwell Street that are exaggerated by heavy tree shading and inadequate sanding. He said that he had to seek an alternative route to his own home in the winter. "I'm sure that, even with a good view, in the winter time, you'll have accidents there," he said.

Others scored the plan's drainage patterns, including the developer's intentions not to interfere with an existing pond off Pleasant Street that residents claim overflows periodically onto their properties and eats away at the nearby road. "That road is eroding so bad that it's breaking away," said George Vasilakis of Pleasant Street.

Several abutters charged that Ferrante's map was inadequate and misleading. "When a plan like this is presented," said Charles Friese, also of Pleasant Street, "Why is it the burden of the abutters to prove what's really in the area?" He called for a town-wide comprehensive plan to put isolated subdivisions in perspective with their surroundings.

Matthew Dallett of River Road agreed. Pacing the meeting room floor with his infant in his arms, he appealed to the board, "If it was just a matter of an ordinance, we wouldn't need you; we'd just have a building inspector." The area to be developed was one of the "most ecologically diverse areas left in town," he said. "I guess what I'm saying is, there's a lot more to think about than just the language of the ordinance that's before you."

Board Chairman Michael Houghton noted that the town is now beginning to work on a master plan for the repair of roads, but that, insofar as the relationship of an individual subdivision to its surroundings is concerned, "We (the board) are not allowed by law to look outside this subdivision in our consideration...By state law, we are confined to a very small box."

Unrecognized, several abutters expressed disbelief. "What law is that?" jeered one.

Board Member Carl Byers stated that the law in question was Mass. General Law 40B, known as the "subdivision control law."

Pleasant Street resident Gertrude Mosca asked how the subdivision would be built. "If it's not done very carefully," she said, "It's going to be a disaster." She added, "Why is there a need for 66 houses? Is there a need for that many houses to be built at once?"

Houghton explained that the board could require, as it has in the south Andover Olympic Village subdivision, that the construction be phased—limited, perhaps, to ten houses at a time.

To another abutter's question about protecting trees on the subdivision parcel, he answered, "The Planning Board has no control over that—just as we have no control over your lot. You can take down every tree, if you want to."

Pike Sixth Grader Continues Getting Worldly Knowledge

By Karen L. Day

By no means is Mark Jaklovsky your typical eleven year old who spends his summers in the park or at the beach. His parents, Jozef and Jolana Jaklovsky, came to the United States from Czechoslovakia in 1969, and have lived at 33 Pleasant St. with Mark and his older sister, Tatiana, for nine years.

The Pike School sixth-grader is very mature and highly articulate for his age, but he seems to take it all in stride. His worldliness is a direct result of two summers learning the languages and lifestyles of foreign countries. Last summer it was Czechoslovakia, where he travelled with his great-aunt, Margaret Hilovsky, who lives with the Jaklovskys, for six weeks, visiting his relatives.

This year, Mark traveled alone to spend a total of five weeks in France. His first three weeks were spent with the de St. Pastou family on their domain, located between Bordeaux and Pau in the South of France. The family, related to a Baron, had three young visitors including Mark. He describes their lifestyle as "aristocratic country French."

While staying with the de St. Pastous, Mark was able to visit the Baron's family castle. He also became friends with a West African diplomat's son who was also staying with the family, and thus, learned something about yet another culture.

He spent the last two weeks of his trip with another family, the Clertans, just outside of Pau near the Spanish border. The Clertan family members are "industrialists," producing toy B.B. guns. They live in a less rural atmosphere than the de St. Pastous. Since he was exposed to the two different families and lifestyles, Mark was able to get a clear view of the French people as a whole.

He visited the castle where Henry the Fourth was born and raised and was allowed to taste the same wine that was given to the future King as an infant in his crib.

Mark also paid short visits to Paris and Lourdes in the company of the Cames family who arranged his French visit. "In Paris, a foreigner is nothing special, but in the country it's something different," he said, adding that they sometimes asked questions about the United States.

At the time he departed for France, Mark had had two months of private French lessons and knew the basics of the language. While in France it was asked that he speak French for at least one complete hour a day, but "I spoke more," says Mark, "French is based from Latin and so is the English language...words are similar...it really wasn't difficult." Mark thinks that French is a good language to know because it is used in many countries like Switzerland, Belgium, Africa, and the Carribean Islands. "I started out knowing very little. Now I can almost carry on a conversation."

Last year, Mark had expressed that he became sick of the Czech food, and states that "overall, I think I like the French better...good soups."

Mark's mother says that since he began travelling, Mark is less picky an eater. "He'll try anything. He has preferences, but he appreciates. Whatever is offered...he will eat."

Many family friends were concerned for Mark's safety travelling abroad. Jolana says that friends "admire our courage...I feel something could happen here, in a camp. You can put too many obstacles in front, you must look forward." She states that the changes in Mark after a summer away are astounding. "It's not just the physical—taller, thinner—it's his general development...Nothing can replace this" experience for him.

The Jaklovskys have had good experiences in the past with their older daughter, Tatiana, traveling abroad. They feel that their children "learn a great deal about people and life." Although Mark traveled to France alone, Tatiana, who was in France, accompanied him home.

Mark agreed, stating that "if I went with them (my parents) I'd probably speak mostly English" and wouldn't have learned the language as well as he did. He is sure that his summer experience will make his French class this year easier and he believes that all his travels have given him "wider horizons on some things" than his peers. Classmates are always interested in hearing about Mark's travels and he brings books back from the places he visits.

"In America, there is too much technology," says Mark, "we don't really expand ourselves culturally." In the background, one can hear the soothing classical music Mark has on the stereo as he continues, "They have more appreciation for the arts...especially in the country."

Jolana agrees that in Europe, there is "so much cultural opportunity...we don't have the old history as they do. I think we don't preserve, we don't stress the past. We tear down beautiful buildings to put up skyscrapers."

Although Mark thinks the arts are important, his best subjects are math and science, and "he's fascinated by astronomy" according to his mother. But Mark is leaning more toward being a physicist someday, and thinks he may even like to do "something in the business field."

"Reading is his best hobby," his mother states. Mark reads "fiction, science fiction—a lot, fantasy, once in a while a factual book.'

When asked if he would like to live in Europe someday, Mark says that he'd "probably rather stay here...It depends on how things go."

The Jaklovskys are investigating the possibility of sending Mark to a French camp next summer in either Canada or Switzerland. Jolana thinks it will be "good for his language and he will be with children."

Mark's mother, who speaks German, Russian and her native Slovak and Czech languages would like him to learn Russian next since it is the closest to the languages of her homeland which Mark can already speak fluently.

But just like any other eleven-year-old, Mark has different ideas from those of his parents.

Since he has mastered the languages of his parents' homeland already, and will hopefully be fluent in French not long from now, he would like to try something new. "I want to study German, so I'll have to go to Germany," he said simply.

Mark Jaklovsky, 11, son of Jozef and Jolana Jaklovsky, 33 Pleasant St., spent his summer in France, learning the language. He traveled there alone to spend a total of five weeks, split between visits to two different families.

A Grand Slam Performance

The J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts celebrated the opening of their fourth season in classic style with a two-hour smashing performance by Broadway and motion picture star, Rita Moreno. Rita, the only performer to win the Oscar, Tony, Emmy and Grammy Awards, entertained her audience with her sizzling dance routines and a variety of hit songs. An orchestra made up of 20 local musicians and three of her own band members provided the strong background music that gave Rita's show that Las-Vegas type performance and sound. A special appearance by her daughter, Fernanda Luisa Gordon, was a fine touch to a great evening of entertainment as they swung into an aerobic dance number packed with a lot of energy. Opening night was made possible through a grant from Andover Savings Bank which also hosted the reception that followed at the Andover Inn. Photos clockwise from upper left: Rita Moreno performing one of her songs with a lot of punch; Rita performing during the second half of the show; Ms. Moreno dancing with her daughter.

Talent Showcase At South

A showcase of talent, including a storyteller, a violinist, an African musical group and a jazz ensemble, will be presented by Young Audiences of Massachusetts at South School, Woburn Street, Andover, on September 16.

The show is designed to acquaint school officials and parent groups with a variety of Young Audiences acts. Anyone involved with bringing cultural enrichment programs to their school is invited.

Performances will begin at 9 a.m. with Jennifer Justice and her "Moon Star Stories." Involving the audience, Justice teaches children not only why stories are so wonderful, but how they can tell stories themselves. A group called The Prosperity of Jazz will recreate jazz styles from the 1920s to 1960s, at 9:30 a.m., including dixieland, swing, main stream, be-bop and improvisation. Both performances will be performed before an audience of students in grades one through three to demonstrate how each group interacts with the audience.

Violinist Yosef Yankelev will be featured at 10:15 a.m. His performance points out the need for hard work to achieve results, while demonstrating the extraordinary qualities of the violin. The Ensemble Afrique will present a program called the "Heritage of Black Dance and Music" at 10:45 a.m. using authentic instrucments and rhythms to feature the traditions of Brazil, the West Indies and Africa. The audience will be made up of students in grades four through six.

Young Audiences is a 35-year-old, national, non-profit organization that brings performing arts programs to children in school during school hours.

BABY TALK

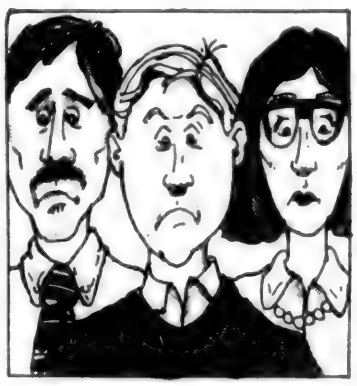

by Jack Resnick

One-year-olds frequently surprise their parents by actually watching television. One-year-olds love the bright colors, sounds, and movements of most TV programming. Cartoons provide a lot of interesting sounds as well having simple and attractive visual characters. Television not only can be fun for the one-year-old, but it can also help the child develop - if parents use the television properly. It can be a good source of auditory and visual stimulation that can help your one-year old learn to distinguish between different sounds and shapes.

You will enjoy seeing the beautiful selection of baby things at TINY TOTLAND. Leading brand name furniture including Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigeaux. We carry everything from pacifiers to strollers. Open 9-5:30. M. & Th. 9-9. Tel. 1-603-623-6171 for TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. "Where Quality Costs You Less."

Organist In Recital In Methuen

Rodger Vine has chosen the following selections for his organ recital on Wednesday, Sept. 17, at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall at 8 p.m.: "Comes Autumn Time," Leo Sowerby; Prelude on an Old Folk tune, "The Fair Hills of Eire, O," Amy Beach; A George Gershwin Medley, "A Rhapsody in Blue," arranged by George Faxon; Prelude on Brother James' Air, Searle Wright; Pageant, Leo Sowerby; Petite Rapsodie Improvisee, Charles Tournemire, reconstructed by Maurice Durufle; Variations sur Jesu, Dulcis Memoria, Jeanne Joulain, first American performance; Stele pour Gabriel Faure, Jean Langlais; Deuxieme Symphonie, Marcel Dupre.

Vine, a graduate of Boston University, has studied with several great artists, including pianist Julius Chaloff and organists Maurice Durufle, Marie-Madeleine Durufle, Jeanne Joulain and Jean Langlais. He has played recitals in the eastern United States and Europe, including performances at St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York City, and Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. Vine is music director at the First Parish Unitarian Church in Scituate and artist-in-residence at the Arlington Street Church in Boston.

During the construction of Serlo Organ Hall, the organ, upon its arrival from Boston, was stored in a nearby large brick barn. From 1905-09, the instrument was rebuilt by the Methuen Organ Company, a financial holding of Searles'. On completion of organ and hall, the organ was used only for Searles' private entertainment. The public was not admitted to Serlo Hall during his lifetime. He died in 1920.

The hall is located on Broadway (Route 28) in Methuen. Ample parking is available.

Thomas Richner will perform a piano and organ recital on Wednesday, Sept. 24.

Newport Trip Planned

The Department of Community Services will head for Newport, R.I., for a day of shopping, dinner and an evening of Jai Alai on Saturday, Oct. 4.

Because of its fine climate and island location, Newport grew from an 18th century maritime center into the "Queen of American Resorts." That growth reflects the broad and varied development of America itself, from Colonial times through the Industrial Revolution and the exciting era known as LaBelle Epoque when Newport was the summering place for Ameria's wealthiest and most influential families.

Newport is known for international sailing events, music festivals, Tennis Hall of Fame and more.

A coach will leave from the rear of the Town Offices at 10:30 a.m. and leave participants off in the downtown area, only minutes from the historic homes of the Colonial period, glittering mansions of the Gilded Age and world famous Ocean Drive.

The coach will transport the group in the evening to the luxurious Sala Del Toro Restaurant, high above court-side. There will be cocktails and a full dinner while watching Jai Alai.

The coach will return to Andover at approximately 12:30 a.m. Registration deadline is September 25.

Art In Park Saturday

This year's Art in the Park will be held Saturday, Sept. 13, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Central Park, off Main Street at Chestnut and Bartlet Streets, Andover.

The 12th annual exhibit and sale is under the combined sponsorship of the Department of Community Services and the Andovers Artists Guild, Inc. The exhibit is open to the public free of charge. More than 100 artists from all over New England will compete for cash and ribbon prizes. Their work will include paintings, graphics, photography and sculpture. All proceeds will go to the AAG scholarship fund.

Rain date will be Sunday, Sept. 14. Food concessions, free parking and restrooms will be provided at the show grounds.

To View "Shear Madness"

The Department of Community Services is accepting reservations for the September 24 production of "Shear Madness," the longest running play in Boston history.

"Shear Madness" celebrated its sixth anniversary of consecutive performances at the Charles Playhouse, Stage II, on January 29. Four-time winner of the Boston Globe Reader's Poll for "Best Comedy of the Year," this whodunit incorporates the audience as armchair detectives to help solve the murder of a concert pianist living above a hairdressing salon on Boston's fashionable Newbury Street.

Originally scheduled for a limited 31-performance run in 1980, "Shear Madness" now has more than 2,700 performances to its credit and has attracted well over 320,000 people to Boston's Theater district.

The phenomenal success of the Boston production has spawned satellite companies equally accomplished within their respective cities. April 1 marked a major theatrical feat when, four years into its run at Chicago's Mayfair Theater," Shear Madness" became the longest-running stage production in "Windy City" history.

Chicago joins its sister productions in Boston and Philadelphia as the longest-running play of any kind in all three cities.

Reserve seats before September 15 at the DCS office. Fee includes transportation from the rear of the Town Office complex.

Flowery Lectures Scheduled

Two lectures at the Stevens-Coolidge Place, 139 Andover St., North Andover, will have a flowery focus. William Sargent, associate curator of Asian Export Art at the Peabody Museum, will speak on "From the Flowery Kingdom: Floral Motifs on Chinese Export Art," on Thursday, Sept. 25.

Michael Dodge, chief propagator at White Flower Farm, Litchfield, Conn., will talk about "Perennial: To Know and Grow Them." Both lectures will begin at 10 a.m. with refreshments at 9:30 a.m.

The Stevens-Coolidge Place is a property of the trustees of reservations, an organization conserving scenic lands throughout Massachusetts. This 90-acre estate in North Andover features an outstanding perennial garden and a large collection of Chinese export porcelain, providing many examples for both speakers to discuss.

Advance reservations are suggested. For further information, contact Robert Murray or Marty Larson.

Associate Director Retires

More than 100 community leaders, friends, family and colleagues joined in a gala retirement celebration at Pat's Beef House in Haverhill in honor of Visiting Nurse Association Associate Director Joan M. Arcand, who retired September 1 after 13 years of service in the Lawrence community and 40 years in nursing.

The program featured speeches and presentations from many of Joan's past and present colleagues. Lawrence Mayor Kevin J. Sullivan presented a letter of commendation from the city in recognition of her years of dedication to the community. Also featured was a personal letter from President Reagan thanking Joan for all of her contributions to society and "a job well done."

Born in Atlantic City, Joan's interest in nursing started very early as she noted, "I can't remember when I didn't want to be a nurse." She spent her time patching dolls, reading books on nursing and caring for elderly neighbors. She set her career goals while attending high school in Philadelphia; her future was clear.

Joan received her nursing diploma from Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia in 1946. The next four years were spent in hospital nursing, gaining experience valuable to her career. In January 1950 she joined the Navy and received her commission as an ensign. She spent the next seven years in the Navy Nurse Corps, and saw duty in Quam, Japan and stateside. She met her husband, Richard, aboard the USS Billy Mitchell, a troop ship returning soldiers to Korea from Japan. They were married in 1956 and the family later grew to include four children.

Joan earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing in 1974 from the then Lowell State College and accepted the position as elderly health nurse at the Lawrence General Hospital well-elder program. The elderly health program she developed and expanded has grown through the years and served as the model for other such programs in the country. Joan went on to earn her Master's degree and certification as a Gerontological Nurse Practicioner in 1976.

She joined the administrative team of Home Health Services, now visiting Nurse Association Homecare, in 1980 and has been an active participant in the growth and development of the agency.

Future plans include spending more time with her family, her quilting hobby and her friends.

Plans are underway for a move to Florida to enjoy the sun and fun of the southern climate.

Alan MacIntosh, Merrimack Valley Planning Commission environmental program mananger, left and Everett Penney, right, Andover public health director, listen to North Andoer Fire Chief William Dolan point out the dangers in household materials as they plan for the household hazardous waste collection scheduled for Oct. 14.

Household Hazardous Waste Collection In The Fall

Six Merrimack Valley area communities will sponsor special collection days for household hazardous waste products in the fall. Participating communities are Andover, North Andover, Haverhill, Groveland, Georgetown and West Newbury.

Haverhill will hold a single collection for household products (spent paints, solvents, pesticides, etc.) and a second one for high school chemicals. Andover and North Andover will join forces in a single collection day to be held in North Andover. Georgetown, Groveland and West Newbury will sponsor a joint collection in a central location in Groveland.

Dates and times are still to be determined.

These local collection days are part of "Operation Clean Sweep," a statewide program sponsored by the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs to rid schools and households of toxic chemicals which could pose environmental or public health problems if disposed of improperly. By using licensed waste transporting firms to safely dispose of these products at proper disposal facilities, these harmful chemicals will not end up in local landfills or water supplies.

The Merrimack Valley Planning Commission is assisting the communities in planning for the events and will help to publicize the collection days when the final arrangments are made. Homeowners are encouragd to hold on to their used paints, solvents and other chemical products in order to take advantage of these special collection days.

For more information, contact Alan Macintosh of the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission.

Trainees also used a mission control developed especially for Space Camp. During the missions, trainees performed experiments similar to experiments done by astronauts and scientists in space.

Girl Scouts Enter 75th Year

Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council is offering another dynamic program year and welcomes all girls between the ages of 5 and 17.

For almost 75 years, Girl Scouting has changed and evolved to meet the needs of today's diverse society. Girl Scouts still play games, camp, sell cookies and do arts and crafts, but there is so much more to the program. Girls travel to nursing homes and "adopt a grandparent," sharing time with someone who has so much time to pass. Girl Scouts explore many careers, from nursing to engineering, to computer technology to photography. They work on projects to improve their society by planting trees or cleaning up parks.

This year there will be camp-ins at the Musuem of Science, camping weekends for older girls, calendar sales as well as some special events in 1987 to celebrate the 75th Anniversary of Girl Scouts.

For details about Girl Scouting in the area, contact Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council.

Arts Ball

The First Annual Autumn Arts Ball at Hammond Castle Museum on Saturday, Sept. 20, from 8 p.m. to midnight will feature the talents of "Herb's Herd," Boston's most recognized swing band. The "Herd" recreates the ever-popular style of Glenn Miller, Duke Ellington and Artie Shaw. The band's repetoire includes such classics as "In the Mood," "Begin the Beguine" and "It Don't Mean a Thing if it Ain't Got That Swing."

The Great Hall will be transformed into the gay Paris of the 1890's, the environment of the famous Moulin Rouge and the world of Henre de Toulouse-Lautrec, French post-impressionist. Artists dressed in the costume of turn-of-the-Century France will paint and sketch people and scenes of the Ball.

Church Expansion Underway

Rev. Dennis Kohl, pastor, right, digs spadeful of earth to begin Faith Lutheran Church expansion program, assisted by Bruce Cook, president of the Church Council.

Faith Lutheran Church broke ground Sunday for an expansion to the church. The expansion will increase the size of the present facility by 3,440 square feet. Officiating at the Order of Groundbreaking was the Rev. Dennis P. Kohl, pastor. He read a congratulatory letter from the Rev. Harold R. Wimmer, Bishop, New England Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

Special guests who were among those who have helped make the "Forward with Faith" expansion program a success so far were Bruce Cook, church council president; Nancy Jeton, chief planner, Town of Andover; Terry Kittleson, chairman, building committee; Douglas MacLeod, MacLeod Brothers Inc., builder; Kenneth Parry, Keneth Parry & Associates, architect; Fred Rossbach, representative, First Essex Savings Bank.

A reception was held behind the church on the site of the future fellowship area. The ground breaking event was planned and organized by the special events committe, chaired by Lana Pass.

The church expansion program began with the creation of a facility needs committee in 1985, formed in response to a church and community study report. This committee was to analyze future space requirements, determine a fund-raising plan and create a building proposal in concert with LCA consultant Jack Reisch. The results were published in a report in August 1985. The congregation reviewed the recommendations and approved the funds necessary to generate a preliminary architectural plan. The building committee, chaired by Terry Kittleson, was formed to formally begin the expansion project.

Franciscans Plan Open House

The Secular Franciscan Fraternity will hold an open house on Sunday, Sept. 14, at 2:30 p.m. in St. Francis of Assisi Church, Bradford Street, Lawrence.

The Secular Franciscans, formally known as the Third Order, were founded by St. Francis to follow his example to live the Gospel life. This open house is the beginning of a month-long observance, on an international level, focusing on the need for vocations. The observance will end October 27 when Pope John Paul visits Francis' home in Assisi and proclaims a world-wide plea for peace.

Secular Franciscans may be described as ordinary people trying to lead extraordinary lives. The fraternity consists of a variety of people, married and single, doctors and lawyers, nurses and housewives, all united by a common goal to live the Gospel and by so doing give example to others. The fraternity meets on the second Sunday of each month at St. Francis in Lawrence. The meeting consists of Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament by Fr. Albin, pastor of St. Francis, followed by the Franciscan Crown, meditations of the peace prayer of St. Francis and a business meeting and social in the church hall. Between meetings the members are engaged in teaching Bible or CCD classes, acting as Eucharistic Ministers in their parishes, bringing meals to shut-ins or shopping for the elderly. Others are active in pro-life work, counseling drug addicts or volunteering in nursing homes. Each member carries on the work of St. Francis in his or her own way and, in so doing, contributes to their spiritual growth.

The fraternity hopes to enlist more members into the order during this month. The open house is for all who are interested. There is no obligation to join.

Church

Kenneth F. Parry & Associates of Weymouth was selected as the architect for the project early in 1986. Ken Parry and his firm have a good deal of experience in church design and worked closely with the building committee to implement the recommendations of the facility needs report. The resulting plan was approved by the congregation in March.

Salient features of the plan include: expand seating capacity of Sanctuary from 160 to 250 people; expand Nathex by 400 square feet and add coat racks; increase number of classrooms from five to eight; double size of kitchen and relocate it, improving its functionality; increase the size of multipurpose room; add meeting-/choir room and a private pastor's study; replace siding, roof shingles and resurface parking lots, driveways and sidewalks.

The total cost of the project will be approximately $350,000. Primary funding will come from two sources. The larger of these is a 30-year $300,000 mortgage from First Essex Savings Bank in Lawrence. The second is contributions over the next three years for pledges made during the "Forward with Faith" fundraising campaign conducted in April. Ralph G. Gould, a fundraising counselor for the Lutheran Laity Movement of the LCA (Lutheran Church in America), was campaign director. The church was able to exceed the minimum pledge goal of $140,000.

MacLeod Brothers, Inc. of Weymouth was chosen from among five contractors interviewed by the construction committee.

Video-Discussion At UU Church

On Friday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m., the adult education committee of the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover invites the public to view a video featuring Richard Yao, founder of Fundamentalists Anonymous, a group whose message has reached more than 100 million people in over two dozen countries since its beginnings in 1985.

Yao is a lawyer by training. He received his J.D. from New York University of Law. He is a member of the New York bar and has worked in a major Wall Street law firm. Yao also has a M. Divinity from the Divinity School at Yale University. He was raised in a fundamentalist community.

Yao has been interviewed on the Phil Donahue TV show, "The Today Show," "Nightwatch" and "ABC World News Tonight." The following magazines have favorably covered the new organization: Catholic Bulletin, Christian Century, Christianity Today, The Lutheran, National Catholic Reporter, New World Outlook, Newsweek and the United Church Observer.

The statement of purpose of the organization reads "Fundamentalists Anyonymous is a national support organization for people who have been burned by fundamentalism. (We use fundamentalism to include the charismatic/pentecostal movement). We work with exfundamentalists as well as concerned parents, spouses, relatives and close friends of those caught up in fundamentalism.

"F.A. is not an anti-Christian or atheistic group, but neither is it a front for any church or religion. We do not recruit satisfied fundamentalists; we only work with those who have decided to leave fundamentalism and need help.

"People have a right to embrace fundamentalist beliefs. But, we also have the right to leave fundamentalism and form our own support system."

Rev. Rosemarie Smurzynski will give an opening talk explaining the Unitarian Universalist Associations' concerns about the fundamentalist movement as examined during the associations' general assembly in Rochester, N.Y., this summer.

Henry C. Everett, M.D., a psychiatrist in private practice in Andover, will moderate the discussion following the film. Everett has taught psychiatry at Harvard Medical School and has had articles published in numerous professional journals. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins Medical School.

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover is a liberal church in the New England tradition of Emerson and Thoreau. The church is located at 6 Locke St., Andover. This program is offered free of charge. Refreshments and coffee will be available.

Jean Hebenstreit

Christian Science Lecture

Is mankind, individually and collectively, being driven by mistakes of the past toward an uncertain, unhappy future? That's a question that concerns everyone—from peace activists to school children. And Christian Science lecturer Jean Hebenstreit brings an unusual touch of Christian realism to the public discussion.

According to advance material, Mrs. Hebenstreit contends that Christianity offers "a redeemable future." That is, whatever we are doing or have done which is leading toward destruction can be transformed and healed through the Christ.

A former chairman of her denomination's five-member board of directors, Mrs. Hebenstreit is traveling the lecture circuit in order to challenge traditional perceptions of the future. She examines man's prospects in terms of the teachings of Christ Jesus.

At the invitation of the local Christian Science church, the lecturer will speak at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 278 North Main St., on Thursday, Sept. 18, at 8 p.m. on "Christian Science and the Redeemable Future." The public is invited.

Many of us believe, says the lecturer, "that we are what we are today, and headed for a questionable future, because of chance, the past, ills, lack, conditions of mortality that can't be redeemed.

"But redemption was assured to the world through the Christianity of Christ Jesus' doctrine. His teaching is in direct contrast to the widely accepted beliefs of unfortunate mortal heredity, bad genes, underprivileged childhood or pampered childhood, unproductive environment, missed opportunities or no opportunities, mistakes in judgment and mistakes in action," she continues.

Homecoming Sunday At Church

A Homecoming Sunday will be observed at the Ballard Vale United Church (a United Methodist and United Church of Christ congregation) on Sunday. Members of the congregation who have been away because of summer activities are being encouraged to worship this Sunday and invite a new family to worship with them.

The Rev. Gary S. Cornell, pastor, will preach on "Tough Love" at the 10:30 a.m. Service of the Word. The church school program has begun with classes for adults, children and youth. The adult class meets at 9:30 a.m. and will study the United Methodist Bishops' Foundation Document, "In Defense of Creation The Nucelear Crisis and a Just Peace." Childrens' classes are held at 10:30 a.m. The junior high youth class meets for the first time on Wednesday evening for a supper session. Their fall study theme is "Drugs and Your Life." The junior high and senior high youth fellowships meet on Sunday evenings.

Subdivision Raises Questions

By Karen L. Day

The most controversial petition heard during last Friday night's meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals was submitted by Picwel Builders regarding property at 5 Argilla Road and vacant land with frontage on 20 and 22 Argilla Road. Atty. Phillip Sullivan presented the case for a review of the building inspector's definition of "parcel."

Building inspector Sam DiSalvo had defined "parcel" as a "continuous lot of land," which Sullivan says is restrictive. The land Picwel wants to use for a subdivision is on either side of Argilla Road, and is, thus, not continuous.

Sullivan explained that in the section of the by-law under which the company wants to build, the word "parcel" is used instead of "lot," and he believes that a meaning other than DiSalvo's is implied. Sullivan quoted the definition of "parcel" from a dictionary as "a contiguous piece of land under one owner" which can be interrupted as the land is in this case.

Town Planner Nancy Jetton agreed with the petitioner, stating that when she and other members of the planning board wrote this section of the by-law, they did so in the hope of having developers propose and build such subdivisions. They must have at least 10 acres, but not more than 25, but leave 60 percent of the land as open space. Part of the land involved, which is located totally on one side of the street, must remain open due to the content's of Sid White's will. Mr. White is the previous owner of the land and the house that sits on the property. "This very piece of land was on that list" of properties the by-law was created for. The "intent was creative land use," said Jetton, "as long as the pieces of land are adjacent to one another." She also explained that the developer could not build any more condominiums or townhouses than he would be allowed single-family homes on the parcel.

Board member Ernest Hall commented that many developers are now buying properties with homes on them already and tearing them down to use the land as part of a larger develpment. Jetton agreed that "vacant is not a requirement of the by-law."

Don Milligan of Argilla Road made a comment aimed at Jetton. "I think you want open spaces in the clusters, not across the street," he said. Jetton reiterated that proposals like this one was the intent of the Planning Board when they wrote this section of the by-law.

Peter Schwarz, 293 Salem St., petitioned to construct a two-story addition that would not meet minimum setback requirements. He explained that his home is on a triangular shaped lot and is already in violation of all setback requirements. The addition would not be any more in violation than the already existing part of the building he will tear down to put the new addition on.

The board asked Town Planner Nancy Jetton and Building Inspector Sam DiSalvo to examine the lot plan. There is a "paper street" which exists and DiSalvo stated that all structures must be 50 feet from any way, including a "paper street," which is simply a pathway.

William Tebbetts, 125 Wildwood Road, commented that the addition would be a definite improvement on the property, while another neighbor stated that the paper road is rarely used.

Mr. and Mrs. Calandrello, 5 Oriole Drive, petitioned the board to determine whether there were specific and material changes in the condi-

Project Draws Protests

By Karen L. Day

After four and one half hours of presentations, questions, and arguments last Thursday night, the Zoning Board of Appeals continued the public hearing regarding Paul Bruk's comprehensive permit petition until Nov. 7. The granting of the controversial proposal would allow him to build 36 units of low-moderate income housing off Summer Street.

At the outset of the meeting, board chairman Wesley Whitney explained to the 200-plus area residents the concept of comprehensive permits and then proceeded to ask Bruk's representatives to present all materials they wished the board to consider as materials proving that the proposal meets all requirements of Chapter 744, the so-called "anti-snob" law regarding low and moderate income housing. This law allows a petitioner to combine all proceedings necessary for the project into one hearing before the zoning board.

Richard D. Asoian and Robert W. LaVoie, Bruk's legal representatives, presented 19 exhibits, including written documents and site drawings, to the board during this, the intitial phase of the hearing. Whitney stated that instead of examining all of these materials during the meeting, the board would evaluate them later and continue the hearing to a later date. He stated that this would be necessary because once the hearing is closed, the board would be barred from requesting additional materials from the petitioner.

The next phase of the hearing was a presentation by the petitioner's representatives, including not only legal counsel, but architect James Warner and engineer Paul Schmidt. The presentation included the submission of four more exhibits which included a preliminary site plan, a line drawing of one of the proposed structures, a drainage plan, and a utility plan.

After the presentation, the board members asked numerous questions regarding everything from lighting of the streets to drainage and traffic. The board requested a traffic study done on Summer St., where residents already feel there is a problem. During intitial presentation, LaVoie had stated that if Summer St. entry was unacceptable they had "the right to go through from Elm St.," but later corrected himself in that they only had rights to lay utilities from Elm St., not a roadway.

Associate board member Lorene Comeau articulated one universal concern about the project when she asked how the board could be sure that the units would remain low-moderate income homes. LaVoie answered that the units could be restricted by the funding organization of the project so that no one could buy them and then rent them out to tenants, and resale could also be restricted. The board asked who the beneficiary of the trust was. LaVoie commented that he was not at liberty to divulge names, so the board requested proof that the beneficiary was qualified for this type of petition.

The question of play areas was raised by associate board member John Bryden. Bruk's representatives had stated that "nearby" parks would serve the purpose, but Bryden pointed out that the nearest park was about a half mile away at Doherty Junior High School.

Once the board members had completed their questioning, Whitney requested the opinions and submission of reports from the other town departments and boards.

Director of Public Works Robert McQuade stated that sewers in the Summer St. area are already at capacity. Bruk is willing to replace sewage lines along Summer St. out to Park St., but McQuade stated that the system was at capacity even as far as Park St. Bruk's representatives were asked if they were prepared to replace the pipes further, but LaVoie stated that it would not be economically possible.

Building Inspctor Sam DeSalvo stated that he would stand on his report and would have no other comment on the project. Fire Chief Harrold Hayes also decided to stand on the contents of his report to the board, but commented that the proposal included adequate fire access ways.

Douglas Dunbar, health board chairman, stated that he was somewhat confused about whether or not the sewage problem could be solved but spoke out strongly against the possible use of septic systems for the development. "We don't want them at all...(its) poor land for septic systems." As he was leaving the podium, Dunbar also commented that there has been a "great lack of information regarding this project," drawing loud cheers from the residents impatiently awaiting their turn to condemn the proposal.

Planner Named

Susan G. Stott was named to a five-year term on the Planning Board by selectmen Monday. She will begin her duties in November.

Stott resides at 4 Robandy Road with her husband, Fred, and two daughters, Sandra (17) and Anne (15), and works as assistant business manager for Phillips Academy. She holds a masters degree in City and Regional Planning from Harvard University and worked for four years as a planner in Lawrence. She currently serves as a member of the boards of the Merrimack Valley United Fund and the Community Daycare Center in Lawrence.

Stott said that she applied for the Planning Board position because of her experience and interest in municipal planning. Furthermore, she said, "My daughters have reached an age where I feel I can give more time to non-family activities. I have had an interest in the town of Andover throughout my 13 years of living here. It seemed like a pretty good fit."

Selectmen View Plans Of Potential Old Town Hall Use

By Susan K. O'Neill

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony gave the Board of Selectmen a quick glimpse into what might be the future of the Old Town Hall on Monday night, when he presented two full-color architectural renderings each of potential uses for the first and second floors.

The sketches made by the firm of Ann Baha Associates of Boston, which Mahony commissioned to study structural factors and potential design of the hall following approval of voters at the annual town meeting, depict the upper floor as an auditorium with a potential capacity of 288 and the lower level as a suite of offices. He emphasized that either design for a floor could be considered interchangeable with either of those for the second floor—"It's a 'mix and match' combination," he said.

Mahony said that the firm has discovered the building to have a number of structural problems, such as decreased load capability in a number of members, in their study. For example, he said, "We found that the bearing capability of the beams beneath the file rooms was zero."

The board voted unanimously to open the designs to discussion by the Re-use Committee, which will be asked to meet before the end of October.

Contacted later, Mahony said that the proposed auditorium/office use for the Hall is not necessarily a "given." The firm depicted the functions, he explained, "because that's what we gave them. Our big thing going in there was to check on the structure," he added. "When they finished that, they asked about the use. It (the auditorium/office use) was about the only thing that had been discussed."

If the Re-use Committee should find either proposed function unsuitable or undesirable, he said, the project will be redesigned. Mahony hopes to display the architects' drawings for public examination in the town office building, at a time and site to be announced.

Mahony also told the board that negotiations on Stevens Street property that has been targeted as a site for a new central post office are near completion. "Papers have been signed on both sides," he said; however, there is still a question of an easement through part of the parcel for the driving access of a neighboring homeowner.

Selectman Gerry Silverman suggested that Mahony look into parking problems in the area of the proposed facility, which will be exaggerated by the narrowness of the street and the fact that it is heavily-traveled by school-aged children.

In other matters:

• The board gave Mahony a unanimous "go-ahead" to begin discussions with Tewksbury representatives on the formulation of a mutually satisfactory sewer policy, which would govern tie-ins to the Tewksbury system by Andover-based businesses located near the town line.

• The board unanimously authorized the taking of a triangular parcel of land, known as the "Kelly property," next to the Vocational Technical Institute. According to Mahony, the town has been holding discussions with the land's owner until his recent death; the authorization would allow continued discussions with the estate. "Negotiations on price can continue," added Mahony.

• The board voted unanimously to direct Mahony to bring in a specific proposal for a smoking/no smoking policy to be followed in the town office building.

• The board asked members of the Parking Committee to submit its latest suggestions in written form at the next meeting, so they can act upon them.

Also scheduled for the next meeting will be a discussion of the parking situation on Brook Street, a subject suggested by Selectman Donn Byrne.

Town Speed Limit Reduced

By Susan K. O'Neill

Monday night, the Board of Selectmen voted to lower the town speed limit for unposted roads from 40 to 30 mph.

"The nature of the town has changed," explained Safety Officer Jack Milne. "It's no longer a rural area." He said that residents of such narrow but highly-traveled roads as Reservation Road in West Andover have complained that high-speed traffic presents a threat to the safety of their neighborhoods. Current unposted limits of 40 mph, coupled with the unwillingness of the court system to encourage exact enforcement of the limit, allow many motorists to drive local back roads at 45 to 50 mph.

According to Police Chief James Johnson, the town has the power to set its own unposted limits, as long as they fall within state limits. "This gives us an option," he said. "If the people don't like it, if they want it back up to 40, we don't have to go through bureaucratic red tape with the state. We can raise it on our own."

Approval for the new limit was unanimous. According to Police Chief James Johnson, signs informing motorists of the changes will be posted, as are Andover's firearms prohibition, on roads leading into the town. They should be in place within the month.

Public consideration of the new limit proposal brought a request from Fred Kulaga of Lowell Street that the town lower the limit on his road. Kulaga said that he and his wife have both been injured by motorists in front of their own home, which is located across from Raytheon.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony explained that Route 133, Lowell Street, is a state road and therefore beyond the town's jurisdiction—but that the town could request state action on the issue. The state would then conduct a "speed survey" on the road, he said—which might or might not lead to lowering of the limit. "The decision to lower it belongs to the state," he said.

Mr. Kulaga said that he had learned that most of Route 133 belonged to the town, not to the state.

"Even if it's a town road," said Maho-

Freight Cars Derail

A freight car derailment tied up a stretch of track in Shawsheen Village for approximately six hours last Wednesday, causing no injuries but forcing afternoon rail commuters to take an unscheduled bus ride home.

According to Dennis Coffey, a spokesman for the Boston and Maine Railroad, the last two cars of a west-bound freight train carrying newsprint from Portland, Maine, derailed at 1:24 p.m. on Sept. 3 at the Burnham Road underpass in Shawsheen. The train uncoupled the crippled cars, leaving them at the site, and continued to its destination in New York state.

"Although there were no injuries, it was certainly unfortunate because it interferred with commuter service," said Coffey, speaking by phone from the company's North Billerica headquarters. "We had to bus the commuter rail folks around the derailment." He estimated that three or four commuter trains were affected by the tie-up.

A crew stabilized the boxcars, wedging them in place and propping them with

Random Thoughts

This week a few random thoughts on the municipal scene, beginning with the state primary election next Tuesday.

Question of the moment is, wouldn't it be terrible if they held an election and nobody showed up? Well, that is a distinct possibility this time around. There is little interest being shown in the primary what with the dirth of contests.

But, the fact that there are some contested offices on the ballot by those seeking nominations to various state offices should be sufficient cause to spur the town's registered voters to action.

If for no other reason than just to enjoy a few moments out, to enjoy the air and atmosphere of this particular time of year, residents should take a few moments to exercise their franchise.

Selectmen Monday night voted to impose a new 30 mile-per-hour speed limit on town streets. The effort, which reduces the speed limit from 40 to 30, is a commendable and wise move.

Indeed, the town has grown considerably over the years and the reduction in speed limit is justified for safety reasons alone.

Many of the older town roads were formed by horses and cows years ago, then paved with the advent of motor vehicles and the desertion of the agricultural native of the original community.

Even the newer roads, part of subdivisions or rebuilt highways, cannot bear 40 mph speeds due to population density. Once posted, there may be some learning processes to overcome, but overall the move is a good one.

It is good to see the reuse of the former town hall progressing.

What the ultimate use of the buildng will be remains to be seen.

But the planning process seems to be moving in the proper direction, principally that the structure will remain a municipal holding.

Whether the building will be dedicated to office or retail use, particularly on the first floor, seems of little consequence. Main thing is that the building remains a town-owned property and focal point of Andover's downtown area.

Finally, we can see it coming.

Another user fee, possibly.

Selectmen, having taken the summer off, got together for the first time Monday night, got reacquainted and promptly ordered a study of a smoking policy for the municipal offices building.

Now, we are appreciative that this august body is interested in the health of its citizens.

But, based on past performance of the board in imposing user and permit fees on everything, we can somehow detect a financial imposition on those who still succumb to the evil weed.

There will be one room set aside in the town offices building for smokers who will gain entrance by unlocking the door through the use of a 25-cent meter.

Lost My Cool Feel Terrible

Have you ever tasted crow?

Let me tell you a story.

It began on a tired summer day a few weeks ago, when I came home from work to find the sink full of my daughter's dirty dishes.

I found her in the living room folding laundry, where I confronted her about her inability to clean up after herself.

She took instant 15-year-old offense. "You always criticize what I don't do! You haven't said a word about what I've done! I've been folding clothes, and I cleaned out the dishwasher—" Tears sprang to her eyes, and her voice, already sharp, rose—"I've been busy all day!"

I glanced at the pile of laundry; it was obvious that she had just started. She'd probably been watching soap operas all afternoon, I figured.

Which is what I told her.

We had an all-too-typical scene.

I wish I could say I never lose my cool. I do. Badly. Especially with Kim. Afterward, I always feel terrible. This time, again, I felt terrible—but justified.

Two days later, on Saturday, my son cajoled me into playing tennis with him at the same time that a neighbor played my husband. When we all got back, Kim met us and dragged us to the back yard.

There, about 30 friends—some from as far away as Western Massachusetts—clustered around tables filled with salads, chips and dips, veggies and munchies of all descriptions. Folks flipped burgers and sizzled chicken on borrowed grills. Crepe paper streamers tangled in the grapevines; a bouquet of balloons tugged at its moorings on the porch.

"Happy 16th anniversary!" Kim cried, and hugged me.

She later explained that she had been planning the party for months, carefully scheduling it for the weekend she had to leave for band camp so we would have to be in town. She had sent out invitations, over-written with admonitions of "Adults only" and "bring your own beer" and listing the food items to bring and the hours when the invited could reach her without fear of discovery. She'd bought the meat—enough to feed an army—and the chips and the soda and the paper goods and plastic utensils with her own money, picking it up with the help of people who were old enough to drive.

In fact, she told me, she'd been working on the party the day I'd gotten back to find the sink full of her dirty dishes. She'd been making the dips.

"So I was mad when you said that I hadn't been doing anything," she said. "But you couldn't have known that."

I looked at this 15-year-old, who usually forgets to bring her trumpet to school on band days. Who is never ready to leave on time for anything. This quirky kid who can't organize her own day—but had just brought 30 busy adults together without a hitch. This kid who quibbles over the tips I give her when she collects from me for her paper route—who just dropped a mind-boggling wad without batting an eye for her parents' entertainment.

And I thought: gulp.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — September 1911

The full sessions of the South church Sunday school will be resumed Sunday, Sept. 10. The school has been closed during the past two months.

The members of Andover Grange will hold a fair on Thursday and Friday, November 2 and 3, and preparations towards it are already under way.

The first meeting of the season of the Echo club of the Baptist church will be held next Monday evening and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance of the members.

A regular meeting of the Andover Natural History society will be held next Tuesday evening. The subject of the meeting will be "Asters," and members are asked to bring in specimens for identification.

The inventory of the estate of the late Rufus Bailey of this town was filed in Salem last week. It amounts to $4.645.83.

50 Years Ago — September 1936

Jonathan Holt, who has served as sexton of the South church for many years, has resigned for reasons of health, and his place is being filled by Arthur W. Basset of Hidden Road. The new sexton is well-known in church affairs, having served as deacon, clerk, member of the Prudential committee, superintendent of the church school, and tenor soloist.

Phillips Academy began its 159th year on Tuesday, with the largest student body in its history, the enrollment being close to 690. Twelve new men have been added to the teaching staff. Thus, with a faculty of seventy for less than 700 boys, Phillips Academy is approaching that goal of all modern schools—small classes and plenty of individual instruction.

25 Years Ago — September 1961

August was a booming month for new construction in the community. Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall issued permits for construction valued at $1,197,850. He also gave out permits for $617,900 in additions and alterations.

The selectmen are in a quandry about businesses that are operating in defiance of zoning by-laws. The problem of law enforcement was dumped squarely in the board's lap Tuesday, on receipt of a letter from the Board of Appeals asking that violations of the zoning by-laws be corrected.

10 Years Ago — September 1976

In the Andover schools, the focus of this year's attack is the science curriculum, with social studies earmarked for 1977-78.

When Andover's Development Industrial Commission was assigned the task of resolving the Sacred Heart property matter for the town which would net Andover the land and tax revenue from the building, it seemed an improbable task. But within a matter of months of the assignment, the commission has come up with "the difficult we do immediately, the impossible takes a little longer" answer for the community.

Democrats outnumber Republicans in the enrolled status for next Tuesday's primary election, with a light voter turnout anticipated. For years, Andover was a Republican stronghold.

The Selectmen, in informing postal authorities that Dale St. and Stevens St. locations were unacceptable, stated their feelings remained that any new postal facility, including mail handling operations, should be located within the central business district area.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer

IN FROM THE COLD

There probably is no other manufactured product that gives as much for the consumer dollar as the refrigerator. It stays on duty every minute of every day and night, often for as long as 15-20 years. It controls its own temperature, recycling itself on and off, and has a very infrequent need for service. It is such a great appliance that it is unfortunate that it is such a monstrosity. Refrigerators are handsome per se, but they are too big and inflexible to really fit in with kitchen design. The best treatment for this appliance is to design it into a cabinet run. Trim can be used to help it blend into the cabinets and countertops. Design integration helps to camouflage it.

An important point to remember when remodeling is whether you are keeping your refrigerator or changing to a smaller or larger size. A few extra inches one way or another can make a difference in the type of cabinet that will surround the refrigerator. Here at WINDSOR KITCHENS we have cabinets to fit every space and all your needs. We also feature the AEG line of German appliances. We create a kitchen of uncompromising quality and workmanship at a most competitive price. See us at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill, Wed. 9-8; Thursday 9 to 5:30; Friday 9 to 5:30; Saturday 10 to 2; Sun., Mon., Tues., closed or by appointment. Tel 372-3444

HANDY HINT:

Speed Limit

"Even if it's a town road," said Mahony, "We still have to go to the state." He explained that there has been a question before the legislature that would give control of posted limits to the town, rather than the state; ironically, he said, the state's mayors are united in their opposition to the change. "They don't want to say 'no' to their own people," he said.

Selectman Gerry Silverman noted that the safety of the road, insofar as speeding was concerned, was a matter falling under police jurisdiction. "There's a safety factor there," he said, nodding toward Chief Johnson. "The Chief is here; he's concerned." He added that he didn't think the state would lower the limit.

"It's ridiculous," said Kulaga, "that a two-lane highway that was built for horses and buggies years ago should have a 45 mph speed limit."

Mahony told the couple, "We have been denied for more of our requests for speed changes than we've been approved."

The Kulagas also asked if more street lights could be installed in the area for the sake of safety.

"That's a budget item," explained Selectman Silverman.

Responded Mrs. Kulaga, "How much does a person's health cost?"

Mr. Kulaga added, "We're the ones who suffer...and you're saying to me, it's a budgetary item."

Mahony noted that there have been very few new street lights installed in town in recent history—approximately three in the last five years.

The board agreed that the individual issue of lights on Route 133 would be best treated within a larger analysis of the town's total light situation.

Two of Monday's other decisions also dealt with public safety:

• The board voted unanimously to allow Town Manager Mahony to seek state approval for a pedestrian "scramble" system for the lights at the intersection at Elm Square, and to seek approximately $28,000 in funding for the change from the Finance Committee.

The system would allow pedestrians a button-controlled walk-light that would stop all vehicle traffic in the intersection, allowing foot traffic to cross in any direction, including diagonally.

Mahony's proposal also included a separate left-turn interval in the light cycle, which would stop through traffic from Central and Elm streets while allowing simultaneous left turns from both streets.

Upon state approval, said Mahony, the installation of the new pattern—which would include changing heads on the existing lights to accommodate the left-turn interval—would probably be set for this coming winter.

• The board voted unanimously to honor a Police Department request to increase the number of lieutenants on the force by one, and the number of sergeants by two.

The paper industry is the third largest consumer of energy in the U.S. and the largest single industrial user of fuel boil.

Project

The board requested that McQuade and Bruk's engineer meet to solve the sewerage problem and report back to the board with resulting solutions.

Planning Board Chairman Michael Houghton took the podium stating that the Planning Board doesn't "have significant information to evaluate the impact on the site." He commented that the chief problems with the plan were in relation to drainage and traffic. The board also found problems with a lack of open space for play areas and evidence of ledge that may or may not require blasting, and was concerned with the adequacy of water and sewage systems. In the final analysis, he said, the Planning Board could not support the proposal as it had been presented.

Robert Pustell of the Conservation Commission commented that the crossing of the wetlands necessary for the access road from Summer St. has not been approved, in fact, the developer had not even filed a petition with the commission.

lumber. According to Coffey, a special on/off-track 75-ton crane was required to lift the cars back onto the rails, so that they could be reattached to an engine and towed away.

He said that the track was cleared by 7:30 p.m.

Coffey said that the cause of the derailment is unknown, and is under investigation. He said that there has been no significant history of similar problems at the Shawsheen site.

Ready For Action

With a 12-2, 1985 record to be proud of and two division titles from the three years of playing in the Cape Ann League, the Girls' Soccer team is certainly feeling strong and ready for action. Under the coaching of Dick Loschi, the Warriors, who made it to the 1985 semifinals in the Division One North Section, will play their first home game in style on Friday by playing under the lights and against the Division One North Champions, Winchester High. Game time is 7 p.m. Photos clockwise from upper left: Junior and star goalie, Karen DelSarto, one of the Warriors' key players who was selected to the All Essex County Soccer Team, is profiled here in a series of photos. Karen, who gave up only seven goals last season and ended the season with 12 shut-outs, was captured during practice demostrating the art of goaltending; Tri-Captains, Julie Boland, Denise Doran and Cheryl Crawford with their coach Dick Loschi.

Warriors Face Interesting Year In Tough Valley Conference

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity football team launches what should be an extremely interesting 1986 season this Saturday against archrival Lawrence High, traveling to Veterans Stadium for a 1:30 p.m. game against the Lancers.

The Golden Warriors, fresh off a 6-3-0 showing last fall, could be an improved team despite the graduation of a dozen top-notch players.

However, while AHS will field an excellent squad, the rest of the Merrimack Valley Conference is also on the upswing and is rated one of the strongest leagues in the state (including all divisions) this year.

"This looks like an abnormal, extraordinary year for talent in the league," states Central Catholic coach Mike Cassano, whose sentiments are echoed by almost every other MVC official. "There are at least eight teams with a legitimate shot at the title, and I believe the top-ranked and eighth-ranked clubs are practically on a par."

"It looks like everyone has improved," adds Tewksbury's Bob Aylward, whose 11-0-0 squad won the league and Eastern Mass. Division II Super Bowl crowns last season. "Many people are picking us to win it again, but I think they're trying to put the whammy on us."

"I believe it'll be a dogfight," offers Billerica coach Mike Esposito, "and a 7-3 or 8-2 record might be enough to win it all this year."

Andover is among the eight "favorites," but the non-exclusive cluster also includes Tewksbury, Methuen, Chelmsford, Lowell, Billerica, Lawrence High and Central.

Personnel

Andover's key graduates from the '85 crew include Tim Perry (attending Harvard University), Larry Aiello (Villanova), Joe Jurek (Phillips Academy), Bob Manning (ULowell), Dave Sullivan (Deerfield Academy), John Todt (Northern Essex), Bill Dalton (UNH), Eric Friedensen (Cornell), Eric Shenker (UPenn), Kevin Rourke and Rob Carpentier.

Veteran Coach Dick Collins, who begins his 28th season as No. 2 in service among MVC skippers (Dracut's Ed Murphy has been at it 41 years), greeted 78 candidates at the start of AHS' double sessions 2½ weeks ago.

Included are three offensive and seven defensive starters back from last year.

The trio of offensive returnees consists of senior Capt. Steve Redgate (5-10, 170 pounds) at halfback, senior quarterback/running back and Capt. Gus Duffy (5-11, 195), and junior wide receiver/quarterback John Perry (5-9, 165).

Those three also double on defense, Duffy at linebacker, Redgate at cornerback and Perry at either corner or safety.

Other veteran defensive players are senior linebacker and Capt. Rich Bourdelais (5-11, 175), senior middle guard and Capt. Brian Costello (6-1, 200), senior tackle Jeff Driscoll (6-2, 205) and junior tackle Craig Buscema (6-0, 210).

Nine other players, all with some varsity exposure last year, are expected to see considerable time this fall.

Heading this aggregation are four seniors, flanker/defensive back Peter Barry (5-9, 165), split end/defensive back Glenn Allard (6-1, 180), tight end/defensive end Jamie Clarke (6-1, 185) and defensive end John Gangi (6-0, 185).

The five underclassmen, all juniors, include running back Rick Lafond (5-9, 155), running back Devon Arsenault (5-9, 160), guard Steve D'Urso (6-0, 195), linebacker Peter Vehlow (5-10, 170) and quarterback Brandon McCue (5-10, 155).

Gus Duffy will handle all the kicking chores, and the versatile athlete is unique because he punts left-footed and placekicks with his right foot.

Dilemma

Collins and his staff have a pleasant dilemma at quarterback, and as late as last Monday it wasn't certain who would be at the offensive controls against Lawrence.

The graduation of two-sport All-Scholastic Tim Perry, who was heavily-recruitedas a quarterback, left that position wide open this year.

Duffy, McCue and brother John Perry have all been working there in scrimmages, and all three have looked good.

Should Duffy get the nod then John Perry will return to wide receiver, where he led the Golden Warriors in receptions and yardage last year.

If Perry opens at QB Duffy will move to running back, and if McCue receives the call it will be Perry at receiver and Duffy at slotback.

"We have a lot of overall team speed and quickness this year," notes Collins. "There may not be a state championshipsprinter in the bunch, but there is plenty of speed up front (line) and in the backfield.

"We also have experience on defense, and those two factors will help us considerably this season."

Scrimmages

Andover conducted pre-season scrimmages with four schools, Greater-Lowell Regional, Bedford, North Andover and Wellesley.

The traditional Greater Lowell workout helps both teams, giving Division V power G-L a chance to face a much stronger opponent and Division II Andover an opportunity to get a look at a lot of underclassmen.

"We always hold out our top dozen or so players for that one, giving us a good chance to evaluate the newer players," explains Collins.

"We did quite well in all the scrimmages, but realistically the only team we faced that should have a good season is Wellesley. They were third in their league (Division I Bay State) last year, graduated only four startersand have their entire backfield intact.

"We moved the football consistently against them, and even though we blew a couple scoring chances late in the scrimmage it was an encouraging day."

Collins cited the overall work of the three quarterbacks, along with Redgate, Arsenault and Bourdelais.

"We're pleased with the overall progress of the line, but you really don't know what will happen until they're under the gun for the first time. We haven't scrimmaged the caliber of team we'll face once the real season starts," admits Collins.

Notes and Quotes

Collins' talented crew of assistant varsity coaches includes Dave Bettencourt (linemen), George Sullivan (defensive coordinator and linebackers), Justin DeMarco (offensive backs), Glen Alsup (receivers) and newcomer Bob Fitzgerald (defensive backs).

Operating on a volunteer basis are Peter Reilly (kickers) and Joe Iarrobino (linemen).

Jay Darrin is the new head freshman coach at West Junior High, with Tom Kenny assisting, while Jim Hurley (head) and Ken Pellerin return to lead the Doherty frosh.

Collins has a remarkable record at Andover, boasting a 141-87-14 overall ledger that includes six league championships, three EMass. Division II Super Bowl appearances, consecutive Bowl championships (1974 and '75) and just one losing season since 1963 (23 winning campaigns).

Collins favors Tewksbury but sees Lowell, Methuen, Lawrence and his own team as definite contenders.

Youth Soccer Kicks Into Gear

On Saturday, Sept. 6, 1300 youngsters, ranging in age from six to 16, took to the fields as the season began for the Andover Soccer Association. Here, boys and girls from the Volvos Under-8 team go through the rigors of their first practice under the watchful eyes of coaches Bob Rensink and Gary Blonglewicz. Pictures, clockwise from upper left: Led by Coach Rensink, members put their arms (and at least one tongue) into their warm-ups; Molly Smith (with a little help from her tongue) rears back for a boot; Oops—Geoffrey Gresh almost makes a save in goal; And afterward, of course, there are the traditional oranges for the weary warriors.

Pony League Tryouts Set

The Andover Blue and Gold Pony League baseball teams will hold a pair of fall tryout sessions Saturday and Sunday, September 20 and 21, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. both days at the Andover High varsity field.

All Andover youngsters ages 13 to 15 are eligible to participate.

There will be a special need for players in all age groups next summer, with the Greater-Reading Pony League expected to cut back its maximum age from 16 to 15 years old.

All candidates should report to the AHS varsity field at 1 p.m. on Saturday, with Sunday's tryout schedule to be determined at that time.

A second set of tryouts will be held next spring, but youngsters interested in playing in the Pony League next year are urged to attend the fall tryouts.

The Blue and Gold teams have enjoyed outstanding success in their two seasons as members of the Greater-Reading League.

In 1985 both won their divisions of the league, both won their best-of-3 semifinal round playoff series, and then met head-on in a hard-fought best-of-3 championship series won by Gold in three games (5-4 final triumph).

This past summer Blue and Gold again placed first in their respective divisions, and Gold made it two straight titles and five in the last six years by edging the Reading Astros in a best-of-3 championship series (7-6, eight-inning final triumph).

Blue is 27-12-1 the past two years and Gold 36-6-3.

Blue once again will be coached by Joe Iarrobino and Dick Allard, while Gold will be handled by Rick Harrison and Dan Grams.

All candidates should bring cleats and glove to the tryouts, and anyone with further questions should contact either Iarrobino (470-3159) or Harrison (475-3919).

In case of rain Saturday, all candidates should report Sunday at 1 p.m. If both sessions are rained out they will be re-scheduled for the following weekend, Sept. 27 and 28, at the same time and site.

All Stars Compete In Tourney

The Andover 11-year-old All-Stars played competitive baseball in the recent Chelmsford Tournament.

Andover faced Medford-Wellington in game one and Shawn Bates who pitched a one-hitter and struck out 14 enroute to a 4-1 victory. Bates led Medford to the final four in the state Little League tourney. Andover's lone run was scored in the first when Bobby Daley doubled home Ian Timmons who had walked. Keith Bilger and Chad Bowman pitched effectively for Andover, allowing only four base hits. Two of the four runs were unearned. Andy DiBenedictis made a great running catch in left, Daley turned an unassisted double play, Mike Famiglietti had five assists at shortstop and Colin Arsenault at third and John Bowman in center made nice plays.

Andover lost game two 4-3 when South Medford scored an unearned run in the bottom of the sixth. Andover's offense was highlighted by a two-run homerun by Steve Marchlik. Bilger and Famiglietti contributed two basehits each. Defensively, Josh Nelken ran down a Texas leaguer and rightfielder Brian Croteau cut down a baserunner with a rifle throw.

Andover beat Billerica 10-1 in game three. Famiglietti tossed a two hitter, struck out eight and went three-for-three at the plate. John Bowman had a pair of hits and two RBIs. Chad Bowman roped an RBI double down the line in rightfield. An errant Billerica play aided Andover in the run column. Catcher Johnny Dwight called an excellent game and Kevin Sharkey made a diving stab of a line shot from his position at third.

Andover lost game four to Peabody 10-7. Timmons pitched with true grit after having been injured by a batted ball. Marchlik drove in two runs and Daley one as Andover took an early lead. Timmons, Sharkey and Croteau added Andover base hits. Marchlik in left, Sharkey at third, Chad Bowman at second, Daley at first and Dwight behind the plate all made outstanding fielding plays.

Aviator

Navy Ensign Richard B. Farren, son of Nassrin F. Farren, 38 Royal Crest Drive, North Andover, was designated a Naval Aviator. Presentation of the "Wings of Gold" marked culmination of 18 months of flight training.

Farren's curriculum included basic studies in engineering and navigation, training flights in simulators, aircraft familiarizations, basic and advanced instrument training, extended navigation flights and landings aboard an aircraft carrier.

A 1980 graduate of North Andover High School, North Andover, and a 1984 graduate of Fitchburg State College, Fitchburg, with a Bachelor of Science degree, Farren joined the Navy in January 1985.

Typical servings of beer (12 ounces), wine (5 ounces) and liquor (1¼ ounces) all contain the same amount of alcohol—about ½ ounce.

tions upon which an application for a variance was denied regarding a satellite dish on the roof of their home. If there are such changes, the case could be heard again without waiting the usual two-year period before resubmission of the petition.

Maria Calandrello submitted a survey by N.E. Communications which states that there is no other location for the satellite dish possible. Wesley Whitney, board chairman asked how the survey was conducted. Calandrello explained that she was not present, but would ask the surveyor to submit the information to the board. The petitioner commented that the dish is non-obtrusive, but Fred Spittola of Argilla Road disagreed, stating that one "can see it from the road."

Robert and Susan Stocks of Tewksbury petitioned the board to allow them to split a single lot owned by the petitioner's mother at 469 South Main St. in order to build a home on one of the lots, while the remaining lot would have the original home on it. Stocks explained that he believed that wetlands maps of the property were incorrect, but the board stated that the petition would be decided according to the current maps. Stocks would have to ask that the maps be redone. Art Burkwood, a next door neighbor, commented that "tractors can go over it...its not wetlands."

Atty. Edward Cregg presented the petition of Robert and Janice Canavan, 25 Smithshire Estates, for continued existance of their dwelling which does not meet minimum sideyard setback requirements. The couple purchased the home last May from its original owner. The home was apparently built in violation, so Thomas Dye, the first owner, picked up 15 feet of land from the next door property, but it was never added to the lot plan.

Lawrence T. Whalen and Regina C. Fodor, 66 Whittier St., requested permission to extend the existing porch, but the addition would not be roofed. The addition would go back no further than 15 feet from the rear lot line, the same as the existing porch.

Atty. Andrew Caffrey, Jr. presented the case for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Kidd, 207 Lowell St. for continued existence of a deck which does not meet minimum sideyard setback requirements. Caffrey explained that West Parish Drive did not exist at the time the home was built, but because of the road, the entire home does not meet sideyard setback requirements. The porch is somewhat closer to West Parish Drive than the rest of the home because the road cuts at an angle to the lot.

Robert and Gail Ralston, 60 Chestnut St., petitioned the board to permit the construction of an addition that will result in the existing structures not meeting minimum setback requirements. Ralston explained that he wants to connect a new addition behind the house to the garage which is eight feet from the lot line. Whitney commented that this is an "interesting part of the by-law" which states that a connected addition must be 15 feet from the lot line, but if floated alone detached on the property, the addition can be a mere five feet from the lot line.

The continued existance of a deck which does not meet minimum setback requirements was requested by Robert and Joan Faucher, 35 Enmore St. The couple originally planned on simply putting in steps from a single glass door for exit from the rear of their home. Builder Phil LeCroix explained that while he was not available, his foreman built the deck to span the entire four glass doors.

Cider Mill

The wonderful aroma of freshly pressed juice, made from historical apple varieties, will pervade the horsepowered cider mill which opens for the season on Sept. 27 at Old Sturbridge Village, Sturbridge, Mass. On weekends from Sept. 27 through Nov. 2, visitors can see the early nineteenth-century horsepowered mill producing apple juice which in the 1830's would then be fermented into traditional New England cider. The process of crushing apples into pomace at the horsepowered nut mill, will take place on Saturdays and pressing will be done on Sunday. On weekdays, costumed interpreters will be cleaing the press, sorting apples, and on occasion doing additional pressings.

Cider has been a New England favorite for centuries. In the early nineteenth century fermented apple juice or cider of 4-8 percent alcohol content was the most popular table beverage among rural New Englanders. Most families kept at least eight to ten barrels in their cellar for consumption throughout the year.

Each fall, residents of the early nineteenth-century town would take their harvested apples and barrels to one of the tonw's four or five mills, similar to Old Sturbridge Village's mill, to be crushed and pressed into juice. After pressing, the barrels of juice would then be delivered home and allowed to ferment. Extras might be added to adapt the fermented juice or cider to each familiy's taste. These extras might be brandy or rum to raise the alcohol level, isinglass, egg shells, charcoal, or sand to prevent spoilage, or meat to mature the flavor. The treated cider would then be consumed throughout the year as a beverage or be converted into cider molasses or vinegar for use in open hearth cooking.

The use of paper plates is growing four times faster than the population.

Century 21 The Hunt Agency Thanks the Community

Priscilla and Peter Hunt extend their sincere thanks to the community for all the wonderful support shown to Century 21 The Hunt Agency. Home buyers, sellers and investors from the immediate area as well as Chelmsford, Haverhill and Lowell have chosen the Hunt Agency for their real estate needs. The Hunt Agency has attracted so many customers outside the calling area that the Hunts have added a convenient 800-number.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt set high standards for their agency. Over 20 licensed brokers and sales associates have been selected for their professionalism, integrity, personality, and commitment to excellence.

Mrs. Hunt, an ex-educator with training in management and computer programming, requires her sales staff to complete a rigorous Century 21 training program, attend weekly in-house training sessions, and participate in continuing education courses. She encourages staff members to develop a specialization beyond their general training.

Mr. Hunt, a Mass. real estate and tax attorney and C.P.A. with more than 10 years of real estate experience, trains his sales staff in the legal, tax and financial end of the business, and assists with deals that have complicated legal involvement or require creative financing. He offers free consultations to potential clients.

The Hunt Agency is a member of 3 multiple listing services covering over 20 communities in Greater Lawrence, Greater Lowell and Greater Haverhill. Through its computer system the agency can provide up-to-the-minute searches of all area listings. It also provides the free market analyses and the commercial, industrial and residential experience of an in-house licensed appraiser.

The Hunt Agency strives to provide outstanding service for the area it serves, while maintaining its superb reputation for honesty, integrity and excellence. Perfection in the real estate business may not be completely attainable, but that won't keep Century 21 The Hunt Agency from trying. Century 21 The Hunt Agency: 522 Chickering Rd., No. Andover. The Volkswagen Golf

Bardetti Volkswagen: Affordable,Efficient, Reliable

In 1985 Volkswagen engineers, who have never been content to compete and must excel, revamped the Volkswagen Golf series of automobiles and the Volkswagen Jetta series. The changes involved making the automobiles longer, wider, and the engine more powerful. The result of these changes has been two banner years in sales at Bardetti Volkswagen. Many consumers are moving away from the sub-compacts and have chosen the popular mid-size Volkswagen Jetta. The name Volkswagen means "car of the people", and this year the people have turned out in record numbers at Bardetti.

At Bardetti Volkswagen the salesmen can speak with confidence in their product because they know that Volkswagen automobiles have been conceived with the classic German passion for engineering excellence. When you choose a car from Bardetti Volkswagen you are choosing a machine built with the most sophisticated technology, and which has undergone inspection upon inspection in order to insure that every Volkswagen is as perfect as man and machine can make it. The 1986 Jetta has clearly proven to be an affordable German road car combining superior road handling and performance with exceptional roominess and comfort. The Volkswagen Golf is also affordable and efficient with spectacular road handling. Both come with a two year unlimited mileage protection plan.

If all the words in the world won't convince you, take a test drive at Bardetti Volkswagen from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and you'll know that you're not just driving a car; you're driving a Volkswagen. Phone: 687-0696.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Robert F. Salamanca Painting & Decorating Inc.

From the time Bob Salamanca attended Vocational school in Lawrence, he knew he wanted his own business. Since overnight success stories are rare, Bob paid his dues by working seven years with another contractor before beginning his own business in 1984. Bob and his wife Debbie recall their first year of business as a whirlwind of activity with Bob working day and night as a one man operation doing everything from bidding jobs, to painting, to wall covering, to advertising.

Bob Salamanca offers his customers interior and exterior painting and wall covering for residential, commercial and industrial purposes. They're a young company anxious to provide you with the quality work that will bring you back to them again. When you call Robert F. Salamanca Painting & Decorating Inc. you can expect the following:

- an appointment set up for your mutual convenience
- measurement of the area requiring work
- a written estimate detailing what they'll do, the material they'll use and how much will be needed
- an estimate of the time needed to complete the job

Robert F. Salamanca Painting & Decorating Inc. has been building a long list of satisfied clients which include Ad-Tec, Zayre, Ryder and Antiquarian Books. Bob emphasizes that no job is too big or too small. They'll cover any job from your home to your business and they're fully insured for your protection as well as their own. Bob and Debbie are proud of the quality, professional results provided by Robert F. Salamanca Painting & Decorating Inc with their now expanded staff of three full-time and two part-time employees. They're also quite proud of their newly expanded family which recently welcomed beautiful Marissa. Call Robert F. Salamanca Painting & Decorating Inc at 688-4285.

HELPING YOUR REALTOR SELL

Every home is unique in some way. Nobody knows this better than the owner. Perhaps the construction was made superior by certain additions or materials. The heating system may be extremely economical. It's possible that the drapes, carpeting or other fixtures are of unique or expensive quality. It could be that adjacent land will never be developed because of certain zoning. The point is - if there are important unseen assets to your home, let your Realtor know. It will help sell your home. This is especially true in the kitchen area if you have modern, updated appliances.

During the showing, it is helpful if you are available to answer questions, but let the agent lead the tour and do the showing. Following the showing, a professional agent will provide you with feedback on the client's reaction. Often, the comments will give you valuable hints if some minor upkeep or cosmetic improvements will help make the sale easier. Selling is a team effort.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

Schruender Real Estate

ARRANGING YOUR MOVE

Finding a good moving company is the first step toward an easy move. The Yellow pages are a good place to begin, but a word of mouth recommendation from a friend or neighbor is the best advertising any mover can have.

Talk to friends about their experiences, and ask your Realtor if he or she can recommend one or more reputable companies. Then call around to check weights and charges. You can save a lot of money by packing yourself, but doing it yourself may affect the mover's liability if anything is broken. Like other service organizations, moving companies offer a range of services and charges. Some charge by the hour for local and/or long distance moves. The rates may also vary depending on the weight of your furniture and other belongings. Once you narrow down your choices of moving companies, you can ask a representative from each company to visit your home and give you specific information about price and service options.

For professional service in buying or selling a home, contact Realty USA, / Schruender Real Estate. Call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, in North Andover.

Tuesday's primary election does not promise to be a hotbed of political adventure for Andover voters who will show up at the polls. The only two candidates from town are running unopposed for their respective party nominations. Still, says Town Clerk Elden Salter, the election does present a few state-level choices, most of which appear on the Democratic ticket.

And Republicans will have the chance to choose a Gubernatorial candidate by write-in—or to have one chosen for them by default.

According to Salter, citizens from Andover's eight precincts will be able to cast their ballots from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Sept. 16 at Andover High School's Dunn Gymnasium. Although 15,483 residents are registered (5,501 Democrats, 3,570 Republicans and 6,412 Independents), Salter predicts that the turnout will be "not too brisk."

Locally, incumbent Democrat Sue Tucker will run unopposed for her party's nomination for state representative, as will Republican Bob Wescott. The two will face each other on the election ballot in November.

On the state level, Democrats will be asked to choose between Gerard D'Amico (Worcester) and Evelyn Murphy (Brookline) for lieutenant governor, and between James Shannon (Lawrence) and JoAnn Shotwell (Cambridge) for attorney general. They will see a three-way choice for auditor, voting for A. Joseph DeNucci (Newton), Maura Hennigan (Boston) or Charles Yancey (Boston).

Also among Democratic contests is a three-way race for the county commissioner nomination among Douglas Ballard (North Andover), Terrence Breen (Methuen) and Raymond Reardon (Lynn). For the Essex County sheriff's nod, Charles Reardon (Salem) is opposing Stanley Colten (Peabody). Finally, John Markey (North Andover) and F. Kelley Landolphi (Danvers) are running for fifth district councillor.

For Republicans, the primary offers one contest—the nomination for auditor, a choice between Andrew Natsios (Holliston) and William Robinson (Melrose)—and one would-be choice. The latter is the Republican nomination for governor.

On the ballot, Gregory Hyatt of North Andover is paired against Royall Switzler of Wellesley for the honor. If either wins, however, he is expected to withdraw by prior arrangement with the Republican state committee.

With a withdrawal, the committee is expected to nominate George Kariotis for the governor's slot. This can be accomplished without a write-in vote, according to Salter.

He adds that, should Kariotis win more than 10,000 votes by virtue of his write-in or sticker campaign, and, in the process, outpoll both Hyatt and Switzler, he would win the primary. The same would be true for any other write-in candidate.

Voting in Andover will be done using the new punch ballot, says Salter. The method was used in the last local election, he says, but voter turnout was extremely low. "Not many people have seen it," he says. "It's not difficult to operate, but you have to pay attention to what you're doing and read the instructions." Poll personnel will demonstrate the method to those who have never used it, if necessary.

Democrats will be given two ballot cards; the two sides of the first will be designated "A" and "B," and only one side of the second card ("C") will be used. Republicans will receive one card, and will vote both sides.

Write-in or "sticker" votes will be registered on the envelope in which the card or cards are distributed, says Salter. For local write-in votes, he adds, a voter should note the office for which the person is running, and the individual's full name and his or her address—so that town officials can check the information easily for validity.

As usual, traffic to and from the gymnasium will be one-way. Voters should enter at the main high school entrance on Shawsheen Road, park in the lot across from the gymnasium, and exit next to West Junior High.

Merit

are expected to become Finalists; of these, it is anticipated that 40 percent will receive awards.

The awards will include 1,800 single-payment National Merit $2000 scholarships, allocated on a state representation basis in proportion to each state's total of high school seniors. There will also be 1,400 Merit Scholarships, underwritten by a variety of corporations, foundations and other organizations, for Finalists who meet particular qualifying criteria set by the sponsor. Most of these will be renewable and will range between $500 and $8,000 per student per year.

Finally, approximately 2,800 four-year Merit Scholarships will be offered by colleges and universities
